Subject: Chat with Clark Robinson
From: Clark Robinson <robinsonchicago@gmail.com> To: barriticus@gmail.com me: thanks clark, just sent out invite to meeting and commons link to that message list Clark: ok

me: god, that's sad, got a bounceback from Carasov's e-mail Clark: sorry, it did not occur to me to delete him Clark: there are probably some other errors in the list me: don't worry about it, I still have his number on my phone Clark: for a group of internet advocates, we are embarrassingly primitive in our record keeping me: yeah me: mostly because organization is one of my weaknesses me: if you would me: send me transcript after meeting me: starting from 7:00 EST me: this may go on for quite a while Clark: my chat program, pidgin, automatically saves a transcript Clark: so I will send you one me: maybe I should start using that me: will download later Clark: it only saves the period of chat you are signed in for -- so leave yourself signed in Clark: not sure what the limit on that is, must be one me: tzimportant me: @yahoo.com me: should be "itzimportant" Clark: ok, i will fix it on the mailing list and check the participant spreadhsheet too me: actually, just delete her me: she wasn't helpful anyway
Clark: ok
Clark: she's erased me: you am become Shiva, destroyer of contact info Clark: credit goes to Igor, my society optometrist in Chicago, who enables me to read small (though not tiny) print, these glasses only cost $1,300.00 me: add this fellow, he's a playwright, friend of Kundra, and my spy at LGF me: "Walter L. Newton" <newton@acrossthebow.com> Clark: i already have him me: okay
me: thanks
Clark: you forwarded something form him previously me: oh, okay me: been a crazy week Clark: i know, it is fascinating to follow this stuff, quantico, tunis, egypt, violence going on now in Suez me: yeah, we get realtime updates in anonops me: irc.anonops.ru #optunisia me: and #opEgypt me: check it out Clark: hope you can write some articles on this stuff, you have a front row seat, moreso than most others who are capable of writing about it artfully me: working on it me: I may just distribute the op-ed me: that al-Jazeera asked for me: and then asked for revisions to me: and then ignored me: possibly a problem with Qatar royal family me: I've asked Green, others to find a place for it me: Otherwise I'll distribute through usual methods me: and through Anon Clark: NPR is attempting to cover the social media aspects of the events in Tunisia and Egypt, but they don't have a fraction of the insight that you do me: well, I'm in communication with that Newsweek fellow me: plus vicarious in #projectpm is a reporter of some sort Clark: just to get your foot in the door , maybe you could co-author something with hastings to get placement in rolling stone, GQ or one of those me: Hastings is covering rally and meetings in April for Rolling Stone me: might be best for me not to co-author with him so that he can continue to cover me Clark: yeah, that makes sense